From a Troubled Past to a Positive Future:
Discerning the Trends in Sustainable Peace building
in Karamoja, Uganda

日時：2024年12月3日（火）17:30-19:30

場所：神戸大学鶴甲第一キャンパスE棟4階大会議室

講師：Dr Eria Onyango Olowo (Makerere University)

要旨：

In Uganda, up to recently, the Karamojong were equated to cattle raiding, guns, weapons trafficking and insecurity. In the last four decades, this pastoral zone, originally known for its nomadic pastoralists, became well-known for patterns of state failure and armed violence. In this paper, I use both ethnographic material and available literature to interrogate the relationship between the state in Uganda and the Karimojong; and how trends in such a relationship evolved to a more promising Karamoja. I will argue that the violence in Karamoja is an invention of a human-built social order in which groups of people and institutions are surviving.
